This was acknowledged before Gen. Dix, American Minister in Paris, by John Slidell and his daughter, and in Frankfort by his son, before the United States Consul there. # Rules for Measurement.

The following rules for measuring corn and liquids will be useful to many of our readers.

1. Shelled corn—measure the length, width and depth of the grain; then multiply these three dimensions together and their product by eight; then cut off two figures to the right; those on the left will be the barrels, those on the right so many hundredths of a barrel.

2. Unshelled corn—multiply as in rule first in the above example, and the product obtained by 54; then cut off two figures on the right; those on the left will be the barrels, those on the right so many hundredths of a barrel.

For grain, fruit, bushes, in house or box, find the length, breadth and depth, multiply them together, then annex two ciphers and divide the product by 128. Answer is bushels, pecks and quarts.

3. Liquid—find the length in inches from the bung, the under edge of the cask; multiply it into itself twice and the product by 270. Answer in gallons, quarts, pints and gills.

Measure 207 feet on each side and you have, lacking an inch, one square acre.

Disaster in Cattle—A Remedy.

Having heard that many cattle were dying in and around Richmond, Ky., of distemper (properly speaking red water) or really bilious fever, I think it proper to give you, for publication, a remedy I have successfully used, and a preventative I have employed to my great satisfaction for the last two or three years.

The remedy is sugar of milk-salt, either unadulterated, the sugar as a basis, the molasses as a drench, or a pint of sugar or a gallon of molasses, and the dose repeated at intervals until the animal is relieved or dies. After it is relieved, a small amount of calomel may be used.

During the war I cured a case with a gallon of sorghum molasses. No one need fear to try the remedy; for the very worst it can only kill the cow, and the worst as well die of molasses as of red water.

The preventative is more important. I got it twelve years ago from Mr. E. H. Taylor of America county, before that I had sustained serious losses, since I have never had a case, except when I carelessly neglected to prevent it. Take a mixture of the following proportions: Salt 1 gallon, flowers of sulphur 2 pint, copperas 1 gill. Pulverize and mix, and keep where the cow can get to it daily. Frank G. Rogin, in the Southern Planter.

How a Farmer May Lose His Money.

By not taking his country paper. Keeping no account of home operations. Paying no attention to the good old maxim: "A stitch in time saves nine," in regard to the sowing of grain and planting of seed at the right time.

Leaving reapers, plows, cultivators, etc., unworked from the rain, and kept of the rain. More money is lost in this way than most people are willing to believe.

Permitting broken implements to be rusted over the winter until they are irreparable. By repairing implements at the proper time many dollars may be saved, a proof of the assertion "that time is money."

Attending the auction sales and purchasing all kinds of trumpery, articles in the words of the vender the articles are "very cheap."

Allowing fence to remain unrepaired and straggling cattle are found grazing in the meadow, grain fields, or bruising the fruit trees.

Disbelieving the principle of a rotation of crops, before making a single experiment.

Planting fruit trees with the expectation of having fruit without giving the trees half the attention required to make them profitable.

Practicing economy by depriving stock of the proper shelter during winter, and giving them unseasoned food, such as half rotten and mouldy hay and fodder.

Keeping an unaccountable trifle of rats on the premises, and two or three lazy dogs that eat up more in a day than they are worth in a whole lifetime.

And lastly, he loses by not reading the advertisements of those who patronize the printer, they being invariably the most enterprising and liberal houses to deal with when he goes to town.

SPEAKER OF THE NEXT HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.—The question as to who shall be the Speaker of the next House of Representatives is already settling the Republican party. Blaine, of Maine, Messrs. Banks and Howe, of Massachusetts, and Mr. Schuck, of Ohio, are among those prominently mentioned for the position. —Baltimore Sun.

GEN. BREKIDGEMAN made a neat hit the speech at an agricultural dinner at Niagara last week, and was enthusiastically received. He said he had nearly lived four years in the British Empire, and everywhere he had met with respect and courtesy—no body had intruded upon him, or offered him unasked advice, or meddled with his affairs. He wished to live retired, and his retirement was respected in Canada. Whatever future might bring forth, he would not let it had any effect on the British flag. —Canadian Freeman.

The fourth Congress, while in a liberal mood appropriated several thousand acres of the public land to erect Agricultural Colleges in Tennessee. The object of the appropriation was to establish three Colleges, one in each grand division of the State. On Monday, a bill was introduced in the Tennessee legislature to appropriate three hundred thousand dollars to establish an agricultural department in the East Tennessee University alone. The bill was introduced by Sugar Hamilton.

The census of 1870, it is said, will show the population of the United States to be 38,000,000.

Few people have an idea of the extent of California. The State is 700 miles long, about 200 wide. San Francisco and Sacramento together have a population of about 170,000, leaving about 200,000 population for this vast area of country—as large as all New England and New York and Pennsylvania together—an area large enough and rich enough to sustain a population of 20,000,000. It would make a large sized European kingdom.

The Paducah Herald will become a daily on or about the 1st of March next.
